Our Approach

Pave the Way with the Right Course Schedule

Our Approach

At Ad Astra, we help colleges and universities graduate more students, faster.

OUR APPROACH

Getting the right resources, in the right place, at the right time, to graduate more students isn't easy. We can simplify it, though. Our approach is to discover, design, and deliver efficient, effective, and optimized schedules to graduate more students, faster.

DISCOVER

If it matters, measure it. Measuring key performance indicators with an objective assessment can highlight areas of opportunities. How is your schedule doing? Are you above or below your peer institutions? Are you utilizing your space effectively? Finding insights in your data can lead you to make the best decisions for your unique campus and student body. Benchmark your institution against your peers to see exactly how your students are progressing compared to others.

DESIGN

Once the analysis of the data is complete, we'll help you leverage it. Designing pathways, schedules, and policy that help to graduate more students, faster, can seem like an overwhelming task. Our experts simplify the design process with analyzed and synthesized data and guidance.

DELIVER

Now that you have the strategic scheduling building blocks, it's time to Deliver. Often the most overlooked step, implementing and managing campus initiatives, particularly scheduling, can be an daunting task. Putting it all in one system can simplify the process and allow you to Deliver measurable results.

Ad Astra